Sarah Bernhardt's Savagery. A Washington society lady who has just returned from Europe tells a new story on Saran Bernhardt. The Washington lady was a great admirer of the actress and while in Paris last spring took occasion to call on her. The Bernhardt sometims amuses herself painting and modelling. She received the Washington lady very whindly and invited her earnestly to call again. After a lapse of a few weeks another visit was made to the actress. She was found very much absorbed in the haiffinished figure of her little model which she had been working at. At the request of the Washington lady who was anxious to see her at work, she continued working. After a while a frisky little spaniel, the pet of Sarah, rushed into the room, wasging his tail and panting with delight. The little dos parang upon the lap of the actress, but she was so much interested in her work that the spaniel did not receive the expected caressing. After the dog had interrupted her work by repeating this evidence of affection several times she became very much irritated and expressed herself with energy in highly seasoned language. But the little spaniel not understant the spot of the counters of Dudley broke a string of her amous necklace, causing for a moment a profound senation in the crowded room; at the owned and spread the family locations as the pearls lew in every direction and were infinitened and profound shad been to forwer lost. Making Love to a Type-Writer There is in Washington a young type writer whose good looks and charming manner justify the sentiments which her employer feels towards her. He is in the habit of dictating his correspondence while her expert fingers transfix the words as he utters them. The other morning, says the Capital, he concluded to end the uncertainty which had come into existence by asking her to marry him. She was engaged on some copying when he approached her and poured out his sentiments, and notwithstanding the warmth of his pleadings kept right ahead with the clickety, click, click of the instrument. In fact, she paid so little attention to him that he became discouraged and left the room, intending to speak to her when her mind was free from her duties. He went to his lunch, and on his return sat down to sign a lot of letters that lay on his desk. There was a large pile, and he went through it me while her expert fingers transfix the words chanically, until he struch a sheet near the bottom. Jumping to his feet, he simply exclaimed: Well, I'll be blowed!' The cold, glaring typewritten letter read:

"Miss Susie: Maybe you'll think I'm an old jackass, but I aint I mean business. I know I don't happen to be very pretty, but I'd be good to a family. I was thinking that maybe you'd learn to like me if you'd go to church with me—and give the minister a few minutes' employment. And this ain't to save any salary either.
